the center of power for advancing libraries is the library itself.

libraries will transition from a center of
information to a center of culture. //

Library as a center of society is expected to create a future of society-centered on the library

As it is known that the virtual world is increasingly dominating social interaction activities in various life schemes, it is therefore necessary to have a place for society to stay connected to the real world, where the body lives and breathes.
